January 16th 2018: Finance Leadership: Ready to Be a Tech-Savvy CFO?

The buzz: "As the CFO, you're the go-to source for accurate information about company performance—no excuses, no delays." (Bright Talk webinar) Finance organizations have changed dramatically, shifting from looking backwards for financial statements, to helping define the company's strategic direction via forward-looking insights. Oxford Economics found today's successful CFOs collaborating with business counterparts on the operational side, and taking a greater role in identifying risks: financial, supply chain, marketing, talent management. How? State-of-the-art technology including machin
