October 14th 2021: The Rise and Fall of Software Recipes

On this episode of The North Star, we will explore the root causes of underperforming software teams. William Ulrich will welcome this episode's guest Darius Blasband, CEO and founder of Raincode, a Brussels-based compiler technology company and author of 'The Rise and Fall of Software Recipes'. Darius will offer his controversial opinions on topics such as Agile and software team composition. His opinions are not just controversial, but they are human, coming from years of personal field experience. So, are you concerned that your large-scale software development investments are not returning

Darius Blasband

Darius Blasband is CEO and Founder of Raincode, a Brussels-based technology company that develops and delivers compilers for legacy languages, including tools to support mainframe to cloud native software migrations. Darius is a trailblazer in the world of compilers, since having built Raincode from the ground up in 1999. Darius holds a Master's degree and a PhD from the Université Libre de Bruxelles and more importantly, has a fantastic sense of humor. He maintains an immense amount of experience designing and developing programming languages and compilers, and has even invented his own programming language for compiler development called YAFL. Darius is the author of "The Rise and Fall of
