August 24th 2010: Living Safely at Home

Haley Samuelson and Bill Archer talk about their respective projects, LivingWell@Home and MonAmiCaregiving. Both projects involve technology designed for living safely at home. Haley and Bill talk about living at home as the preferred option for more and more persons who rely on family caregiving. They explain their projects. They recognize that, for family caregivers, safety in the home is a big concern especially when the family member is alone any part of the day or night. They illustrate from their experience the impressive benefits that technology can bring to family caregiving. They expl
