December 18th 2012: Principles for Training
Memory--What Family Caregivers Should Know

Tony Buzan, an internationally renowned expert on the thinking process, is the world's foremost expert in Mental Literacy, <http://www.thinkbuzan.com/intl>. He describes his career, his own experience with family caregiving, and what led to his interest in training memory. He explains his work in developing, applying and promoting memory training and describes the memory training services he and his team provide, the people to whom these services are provided and how the services benefit them. He discusses memory challenges that affect children, young adults, and all adults as they age normally.
