October 16th 2013: Underexposed: What if Radiation was Good for You?

Since the Hiroshima Atomic Bomb, Chernobyl and Fukushima disasters, there has been a deep and persistent fear in the collective consciousness around Radioactivity and Uranium. There is however strong evidence to suggest that in very low levels of naturally occurring radioactivity, there is tremendous beneficial life force energy to actually assist in healing from a number of quite serious diseases including cancer as well as prolonging a vibrant, healthy life. Ian Soutar will discuss the evidence for this as well as his own experiences working with these low level radioactive sources. On the s
