June 9th 2014: Care and Treatment for Advanced Alzheimer Disease

Dr. Michael Gordon, <http://www.dr-michaelgordon.com/>, is a medical professor, ethicist and one of Canada's best-known geriatricians. He highlights his clinical work in advanced Alzheimer's disease. He explains the medical and social challenges arising from high-risk behaviors and the problems persons with the advanced disease may have in making decisions. He discusses medications for treatment and control of high-risk behaviors, their effectiveness and their alternatives, and says what family caregivers should know. He explains the signs that a person's problems with decision-making are growing
